Galway

1. John Pugh dob app 1780 and Mary Field- COI- Town of Galway. They have 2 children:
Honor (1803-1815?)
Martin (1804-?)
There is an Honor Pue who died in Mayo in 1815, no other information-assuming it is this Honor.

2. Andrew Pew and Mary Laffe (1796-1878) RC- one daughter Anne, RC, baptized at St Nicholas Combined, N&E Parish, Galway City in 1835.
He was a nailor per Mary's death record. She died in the Ballinrobe WH, Mayo, about 22 km north of Headford.
Possible uncle to the Phews below? The name Andrew is also found in the Phews of Mayo.

The Phews have land in Ballyfruit, Kilkilvery, Galway- Ballyfruit is in the Electoral Division of Headford, close to the Mayo border
Records confirm they are related to the Phews in Mayo, sibling to priests Michael, Martin, Andrew and William. RC

3. John Phew 1822-1887 and Mary Walsh-married in Castlegar, County Galway 1855. Address 2 Ditch. John died 1877 leaving everything to Mary, widow. Address Ballyfruit, Galway. All of their children were born in Donaghpatrick, Galway.
1856 Anne Phew There is an Anne Phew who died in 1877-age 20- a farmer's daughter, address Ballyfruit, Galway. Micheal Phew present-could be brother or uncle.
1857 Catherine Phew -possibly married a Fallon, buried in San Mateo County, California 1917. Baptism sponsor is Bridget Fallon.
1859 James J Phew/Pugh 1859 m Mary Williams in California in 1889. Immigrated in 1880. Died in 1925.
1861 Michael Phew/Pugh 1861 -married Anne Gilroy in California 1891-naturalized in 1888, died in 1904
1864 Martin Phew-1864-1878 - address Ballyfruit, registration district Tuam
1866 Nora/Honora and Andrew-twins. Nora married a Sullivan and lived in California. She died in 1940.
1866 Andrew Phew living with his mother Mary in Moyne, Shrule 1901 Mayo Census, lives in house 2. James Phew, mother Nellie and sister Annie is on the same census in house 8 (see Mayo Phew Time Line) giving more proof that Galway and Mayo Phews are related. Andrew later married Mary Agnes Ward at Chapel of Shrule in 1905, they had a son Joseph in 1910 died age 14- they are all buried in the Moyne Cemetery in County Mayo.

James, Micheal, Catherine and Honor immigrated to California .

Headstone in Holy Cross Catholic Cemetery in Colma, California with the name of James Pugh 1925, Harry Biggens 1932, Kate Fallon 1917, Anne Flynn and Honora (Nora) Sullivan. Thomas (uncle) also named Kate Fallon and Anne Flynn in his will. His sister Bridget was married to a Flynn, Anne is possibly her daughter.

His niece Bridget married Patrick Biggins, his sister Bridget married a Flynn, probably married to a Sullivan first. There were several witnesses/sponsors with the name of Fallon. Most likely all related but difficult to know how.

Other Phews/Pughs buried in Holy Cross Catholic Cemetery in Colma, California

Andrew Pugh and Mary McCormick, son of James and Mary Williams

James Joseph Pugh and wife Elizabeth Valdez- parents James and Mary Williams

Michael and Annie Gilroy

John B Pugh and Delia Biggins, son of Michael

Andrew Frank Pugh, son of Michael and Anne Gilroy

4. Patrick Phew 1814-1897 and Nellie (Ellen/Elenor) 1827-1901 Walsh, farmer, address Rostaff. Probably sister to John's wife.

See Mayo Phews.

Wool-working was a historic industry in Ireland. Exportation of Irish wool was more important for a long time over manufactured cloth. esteemed in the 13th and 14th century particularly for Holland. It gained attention of Britain and Charles I prohibited export of wool to any country other than England and Wales. Other laws and incentives to import linen instead brought the industry down as well as the Jacobite Wars, but started to increase again in the 1800's, but not to the extent that it once was.

Ireland: Industrial and Agricultural. (1902). Ireland: Browne and Nolan, limited.

Weaving and spinning helped farming families supplement their incomes, the women did the spinning and the men traditionally did the weaving.
